What are cookies

Cookies are small text files placed on your computer by websites that you visit to make websites work, or work more efficiently, as well as to provide information to the owners of the site.

How this site uses cookies

The table below explains how this website uses cookies and why:

Analytics	These cookies are used to collect information about how visitors use this site. We use the information to compile reports and to help us improve the site. The cookies collect information in an anonymous form, including the number of visitors to the site, where visitors have come to the site from and the pages they visited. For more information about Google Analytics, Google Analytics Cookies and privacy policy of Google, see: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• http://www.google.com/analytics• http://www.google.com/policies/privacy/
Recruitment Advertising	These cookies are used to enable the delivery of recruitment advertisements to past website visitors based on their activity. We automatically remove visitors from marketing lists within 180 days of visiting this website.
Third-party cookies	In addition to our own cookies, we may also use various third-party cookies to report website usage and statistics and to deliver advertisements on or off the website. We automatically remove visitors from marketing lists within 180 days of visiting this website.

What are your choices regarding cookies

Your web browser may allow some control of cookies through the browser settings. You may learn more about cookies, including how to see what cookies have been set and how to manage and delete them, at www.allaboutcookies.org.
